TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN
CHAN XUE LI

I was the liaising officer between Chan Xue Li and the internship company BornInColor, a furniture store with online and physical showrooms, for a period of 4 months in the early months of 2020. She reports weekly to me about her progress and the internship supervisor performs grading and provides feedback about her every month.

Over the period of 4 months, Xue Li has constantly displayed her ability to adapt and rise to the challenges of new roles and new tasks. One of the tasks assigned to her was to serve walk-in customers, it was a task where she was initially uncertain of and expressed her concerns but ultimately rose to a state where she was able to handle customers confidently by herself. Her improvement was also noted by her internship supervisor who praised her effort in her monthly evaluation.

Xue Li is also one who is not afraid to go above and beyond what was expected of her. Being put in charge of marketing, her dedication in researching and exploring the different options is shown through the quality work she constantly produced. Similarly, her supervisor always complimented on the quality of the content she comes up with. Showing her ability to go above and beyond to produce high quality content.

Lastly, Xue Li is also a cheerful and approachable student, to her peers and lecturers, it was always a joy interacting with Xue Li as she reports weekly about her experience during the internship. She is not afraid to be vulnerable with her feelings and opinions and always shared enthusiastically about her achievements.

Therefore, I enthusiastically recommend Xue Li and believes that she would benefit greatly from the opportunity to further her studies and evolve her level of thinking making her a valuable asset, both inside and outside of classrooms. Please feel free to contact me at Jeremiah_ang@sp.edu.sg if you have any questions regarding Xue Li's qualification.

Sincerely,
